NEW FORMS PROPOSED

The New Styles Which Are Proposed to Meet the Long-Felt Want That Has Come

Observing the success of the Joliet Surface methods in the matter of revolution, Puckerton suggests that the attempt be made to apply the same methods in other economies and so forth, proposing the following forms:

Patent Drawing Int'l. — "What do you want to call this kind of device?" — "Call it a lock."

Design Patent. — "What invisible mark would you like to have this device?" — "Have the name of the manufacturer and the date of manufacture." — "That is good because it is a good idea."

Industrial Design. — "Name your design." — "Name it 'ice cream'."

Passing the Plate. — "Come across with the iron men, you lawless tight-wads."

Sunday School Superintendent. — "All of you little Rixons that want to save Satan, stand on one leg."

stream that coursed the prairie bottom to the river. In the rear of the houses on the hillside stood four or five scaffolds, supported by poles. On these scaffolds lay the bones of Bobidoux's children. His wife was Indian, and he buried his dead in Indian fashion.

Court was held in one room and the elevated porch. The dockets were short. The most interesting cases were several indictments against Bobidoux for gambling. All the bar except W. T. Wood, the circuit attorney, entered our names in the margin of the dockets as for Bobidoux. We got the old man clear on some quibble and he was happy. We charged him nothing, but he made all of us pay our tavern bills.

Millions in Pigs.

The total value of the pig industry in Ireland increased from £6,557,000 in 1895 to £8,146,000 in 1914. Bacon curing is carried on by about fifty firms, employing approximately 3,000 hands, and Ireland exports about one-fifth of the total imports of bacon to the United Kingdom. The Irish laborer and his family grow more and more reluctant, a departmental committee states, to feed and look after pigs, the increased value of the returns from poultry and eggs inclining them rather to that source of income. Small holders do the pig raising.

His Guess.

"There's only one seat left for tonight, and that's behind a post," said the man in the theater ticket office.

"How much is it?"

"Two dollars."

"What's the matter? Isn't the show worth seeing?"

Russians Join Allies in Egypt.

A Russian legion, composed exclusively of Jews who were making a pilgrimage in Palestine at the beginning of the war, has been formed beside the French and British soldiers in Egypt.

MAN TO BE PITIED

Born Dissenter Finds Himself With Few Friends.

The World Hesitates to Believe in the Honesty of Such an Individual, Though He May Consider Himself Independent.

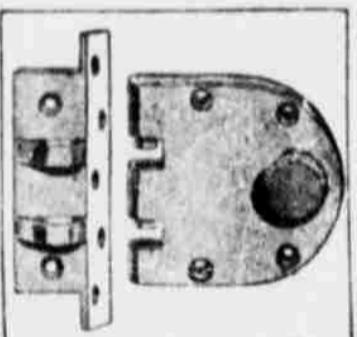

The born dissenter generally merits a share of the world's towns which he somehow manages to evade. Perhaps it is because the world pities him and what it pitied it hesitates to know upon. But a lively soul abhors society as much as it does condemnation. Not the born dissenter, however. If he abhors anything, it is the thought that some day he will miss an opportunity to exhibit his talent for dissenting in a situation where his example would influence others to accept his conception of right. He denies himself release not because he does not like it, but because he fears to have his friends believe that he thinks it injurious, and has the strength to do without it. In the midst of a social gathering he pleads a business engagement as an excuse for leaving. He has no business engagement, but it gives him to think that he has impressed a certain group of persons with his attention to business, even in the face of a pleasant alternative. In matters of politics and religion and other things that do not immediately touch his pocketbook, his opinion is generally contrary to that of the majority not because that is the way he thinks, but because to be with the majority is to be morally one of the mob, just to admit the possession of intellectual attributes hardly above the ordinary. He calls this independence and not self-sufficiency. In the second place, plying with a jingle makes the hinge hold tighter. Thus is probably what is claimed for this new lock. The illustration shows it open. When it is closed by turning the key the bolts go right through the

DOOR CANNOT BE FORCED

Inventor Claims He Has Produced Lock That Can Defy Most Methods of Burglary.

A lock that cannot be pried has long been the goal toward which locksmiths have been striving. Many have been invented, but all have proved failures, because any bolt that shoots horizontally from door to jambs can be forced by a skillful burglar. A patent has recently been issued, however, for a lock in which the bolts drop perpendicularly into sockets and thus fasten the door just as it is hung upon its hinges.

No burglar can budge a hinge. In the first place, the hinge is so situated that it is out of sight and reach; to the second place, plying with a jingle makes the hinge hold tighter. Thus is probably what is claimed for this new lock. The illustration shows it open. When it is closed by turning the key the bolts go right through the holes and penetrate nearly a quarter of an inch into sockets on the body of the lock, as shown by the dotted lines.

Outside the room nothing shows but a metal circle, and this is concave and counter-clockwise, so that no pliers can get purchase. It is believed that the more a burglar tries to peer at this lock the more firmly does it close the door.

GIVE CONSIDERATION TO EYE

Is One of the Most Wonderful and Delicate Organs of the Wonderful Human Body.

More people are wearing glasses today than ever before. But that is no reason, says the Journal of the American Medical Association, for the inference that eyes are any more defective now than they were fifty years ago. It means simply that the work of today is more exacting on the eyes than the work of the earlier time, and that people are taking advantage of the increased knowledge of the structure of the eye and the means of making it serviceable. It has been discovered how the task of the person whose capital is his eyes may be more easily performed. Electricity has turned night into day and made it possible for the eye to work longer. Lenses correct the defects of the eye, and by lightening the burden make the organ equal to the opportunity.

The eyes of civilization are no more defective than those of people living in primitive conditions, and those of men are not inferior in structure to those of animals. The chief difference is that civilized man has found the means of remedying the defects and is employing it thus adding to his own efficiency. But this is not wholly true. There are still persons whose pride in the excellence of their sight is refusing them the aid they need for comfort and efficiency. There also are persons who abuse their eyes by guessing at the correction needed, instead of employing the accurate knowledge they may have. The eye is one of the most wonderful and delicate organs of the wonderful human body. It is certainly entitled to as much consideration as one gives his watch.

When They Miss Them.

Church—I see hotel men say that or rainy days their guests are peevish and require twice as much attention as usual.

Gotham—Sure, it's not until then that they discover that someone has purloined their umbrella.

A Plagiarist.

"Did you say that Gabson was a gifted speaker?"

"No, I said a well endowed speaker."

"What do you mean by that?"

"He's amply provided with the choicest thoughts of other people."

Modern Chesterfield.

"An is at three. Fat, that your old woman's totally deaf!"

"Shure, she can't hear a word, but don't speak loud, so as not to hurt her feelings."

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

In the Circuit Court of Buchanan County, Missouri, May Term 1915, State of Missouri, County of Buchanan,

Jas J. Waterhouse, Plaintiff vs Jacob Kennedy, if living, and the unknown heirs, executors, devisees, donees, administrators, creditors, and voluntary grantees of Jacob Kennedy deceased.

Now on this day came the plaintiff and it appearing that the subscriber is the plaintiff in the action of the Circuit Court against the estate of James J. Kennedy, deceased, in the State of Missouri, and does not render record, and that the cause of action against the estate of James J. Kennedy is to recover the amount due him from the estate of James J. Kennedy deceased, and to restrain the plaintiff from recovering the amount due him from the estate of James J. Kennedy deceased.

It is ordered that said defendant be summoned to publication as required by law to appear to answer to the plaintiff against said defendant for the object and general nature of which is to have this court to try, determine and determine the interests and rights of the plaintiff and defendant respectively, and to award the amount due him from the estate of James J.
